

Occupational Studies Guidance

Example of Progression - Employment

Roisin McKee – People 1st

Script:

The hospitality, passenger transport, travel and tourism sector represents a significant employment and growth area for Northern Ireland, and offers talented and enthusiastic individuals a varied choice of roles and rewarding and long-term careers. Our careers website uksp.co.uk is a great starting place to understand the many benefits and entry routes to these industries.

The sector needs a significant number of managers and skilled workers to meet its projected growth, and employers are on the lookout for candidates with the right attitude and knowledge to fill these positions. Occupational Studies is a great way to enter and progress a career in these industries. It gives learners a unique opportunity to get a feel for the sector, and understand the opportunities on offer. It also results in gaining a nationally recognised qualification that can be used for entry into college, or further progression in employer training programmes and apprenticeships.