Purpose of this Guidance

This guidance is part of the support and implementation package for the Revised Northern Ireland Curriculum (hereafter referred to as Northern Ireland Curriculum) already with your school that includes:

- The Statutory Curriculum at Key Stage 3: Supplementary Guidance; and
- The Curriculum Support and Implementation Box.

Both these resources and additional learning and teaching resources are also available at www.nicurriculum.org.uk.

Physical Education is part of the minimum requirement for every pupil at Key Stage 3. This guidance seeks to build on good practice and to provide heads of department with information and practical approaches to help them plan and roll-out the requirements for Physical Education in a manageable way. The guidance explains and provides interpretation of the statutory requirements for Physical Education.

There are departmental questions and activities after each section which can help you and the members of your department to reflect on and evaluate your current practice and identify actions for departmental planning.

The questions and activities follow The 4A's Model for Planning as documented in the booklet, Planning for the Revised Curriculum at Key Stage 3, in your school’s Curriculum Support and Implementation Box. Working through this guidance and its accompanying activities means that your department will be well on course for rolling out the Northern Ireland Curriculum.
Section 02
Physical Education in the Northern Ireland Curriculum

The Northern Ireland Curriculum aims to empower pupils to achieve their potential and to make informed and responsible choices and decisions throughout their lives. It is about helping all pupils prepare for life and work:

- as individuals;
- as contributors to society;
- as contributors to the economy and the environment.

Physical Education has a significant role to play in this. Schools are now seen as the most important context for promoting healthy lifestyles in pupils. Health Related Physical Education (HRPE) in Northern Ireland has been shown to positively influence children’s knowledge of and attitudes towards physical activity.

The Northern Ireland Curriculum gives a high profile to Physical Education’s role in:

- providing pupils with regular, frequent and appropriate physical activity opportunities, information and guidance;
- encouraging and empowering pupils to make informed and responsible choices about the role of physical activity in their lives.

Meeting Curriculum Objectives

Physical Education develops pupils as individuals by:

- helping pupils develop physical competence, confidence and self esteem through participation in a range of practical contexts;
- providing enjoyable and positive experiences with real opportunities to achieve success;
- providing opportunities for pupils to learn to be creative, expressive and competitive and to develop positive relationships and respect for others;
- learning how to take increasing responsibility for choices and actions in relation to their own learning, safety and involvement in physical activity;
- learning how to practise, refine and develop specific skills and techniques and to analyse and improve their own and others’ work.

Physical Education develops pupils as contributors to society by:

- providing opportunities for pupils to work effectively with others through a range of practical situations which require co-operation, creativity, problem solving, planning and teamwork;
- understanding ethical issues related to sport and physical activity. For example, drug misuse, disability in sport and gender issues;
- recognising and using a code of conduct that promotes sportsmanship and fair play;
- appreciating and respecting the range of abilities and their impact on participation and in leading a healthy lifestyle.
Physical Education develops pupils as contributors to the economy and environment by:

- providing practical opportunities for pupils to develop their personal skills and competencies in preparation for future training, education or employment;
- encouraging pupils to take on different roles in practical tasks. For example, performer, choreographer, leader, coach, official;
- accessing and using sporting and recreational opportunities in the local and wider community;
- recognising the influence of the media in sport and physical activity;
- being aware of the employment opportunities within health and leisure;
- recognising the relationship between physical health and well-being and how it can have an effect on the economy.

Questions for Departments

In order to contribute to the curriculum objectives during Key Stage 3, what do we want our pupils in Physical Education to:

- know (knowledge and understand)?
- be able to do (skills)?
- be like (attitudes and dispositions)?

Action
Section 03
Links to Key Stage 2 and Key Stage 4

3.1 Key Stage 2

The minimum content for Physical Education is set out below. Teachers should provide opportunities for pupils to develop knowledge, understanding and skills in:

Athletics:
Pupils should be enabled to:

• participate in activities and physical challenges to learn, understand and continue to develop the core skills of running, jumping and throwing in a co-operative and competitive context using a variety of equipment;
• progress from simple running, jumping and throwing activities towards becoming involved in more difficult personal challenges and through them, improving performance;
• practise running over short and long distances;
• practise jumping for height and distance;
• practise throwing activities for accuracy and distance from a stationary position to a controlled run-up;
• record and analyse personal performance in a variety of ways.

Dance:
Pupils should be enabled to:

• progress from using simple movements and gestures, towards developing these into a structured, sequenced and co-ordinated set of movements using variables such as space, direction and speed;
• develop their movements progressively individually, in pairs, in trios, small groups, and larger groups;
• develop more effective use of space levels, directions, speed and strength;
• move with increased control, co-ordination and poise, using a variety of actions and gestures which communicate ideas and feelings;
• create, practise and perform movement sequences, using a variety of stimuli and to an audience;
• structure dances with clear beginnings, middles and ends;
• perform a selection of simple folk dances.

Games:
Pupils should be enabled to:

• progress from developing individual skills and partner activities and games to suitable small-sided, adapted and mini-games through both co-operative and then competitive play;
• develop control in running, jumping, changing speed, stopping and starting, with and without small equipment;
• improve their skills of handling, hitting and kicking using a variety of equipment and progress from developing individual skills and partner activities and games to suitable small-sided adapted and mini games through both co-operative and then competitive play;
• develop an understanding of, and participate in, small-sided, adapted and mini games.
Guidance for Physical Education at Key Stage 3

3.2 Key Stage 4

The flexible framework at Key Stage 3 allows:
- teachers to establish foundations for Key Stage 4 study by providing opportunities for pupils to demonstrate deeper understanding;
- pupils to become more independent learners who will be more adept and experienced in managing their own learning.

Key Stage 3 experiences should provide a robust basis for learning at Key Stage 4. The knowledge, understanding and skills outlined in the minimum requirement for Key Stage 3 Physical Education provide a framework that enables teachers to tailor the breadth and depth of coverage to meet the needs and interests of their pupils.

CCEA offers a range of qualifications, details of which are available on the CCEA website. At the time of writing, GCSE specifications for all subjects are currently being reviewed.

At Key Stage 4 it is a statutory requirement that pupils should be enabled to:
- plan and participate in a regular, frequent and balanced programme of physical activity that:
  - develops their interests and talents;
  - extends their knowledge, understanding and skills; and
  - contributes to, and helps sustain, a healthy and active lifestyle;
- evaluate their own performances and that of others;
- recognise and manage risk and apply safe principles and procedures before, during and after physical activity;
- experience and understand different roles within a range of physical activities;
- know how to access sporting and recreational opportunities in the local and wider community.

Gymnastics:
Pupils should be enabled to:
- extend their body management skills and improve the variety and quality of movement;
- progress from working individually to working in pairs, trios, small groups and whole groups;
- explore practise and refine a range of movement skills, including travelling, flight, rolling, balancing, transferring weight, including weight on hands, twisting, turning and stretching.

Swimming:
Pupils should be enabled to:
- develop basic swimming and personal survival skills;
- understand the importance of personal hygiene in relation to pool use;
- progress from using a swimming aid to developing their confidence and competence in being able to swim without the use of any aids using recognised swimming strokes.

Section 04
Understanding the Statutory Requirements for Physical Education

This section includes explanation of:

• The Layout of the Statutory Requirements;
• Knowledge, Understanding and Skills;
• Curriculum Objectives and Key Elements;
• Learning Outcomes;
• Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities.

4.1 The Layout of the Statutory Requirements

The objectives provide the real and relevant contexts in which Physical Education knowledge, understanding and skills are developed. The objectives should be developed throughout the key stage.

The curriculum objectives provide the real and relevant contexts in which Physical Education knowledge, understanding and skills are developed. The objectives should be developed throughout the key stage.

Objective 1 Developing pupils as Individuals

- People should have opportunities to:
  - Use language, drama, poetry or the moving image to explore others’ needs and rights, for example, under the needs of a fictional character; participate in a role play involving conflicting rights etc. (Key Element: Citizenship)
  - Explore how different cultures and beliefs are reflected in a range of communication methods.

Objective 2 Developing pupils as Contributors to Society

- People should have opportunities to:
  - Explore issues related to Economic Awareness: Is economics on the lives of the debate whether you should be child labour; consider issues of financial difficulties. (Key Element: Economic Awareness)
  - Use effective communication to: write a letter persuading a friend to use eco-friendly guidelines for a visit to a heritage site; present the case for the building; participate in an assembly about a security issue or Sustainable

The objectives are made up of Key Elements. These provide opportunities for subjects to connect with Learning for Life and Work and with other subjects.

The Knowledge, Understanding and Skills to be developed in Physical Education during key stage 3

Learning Outcomes

These state the skills and capabilities pupils should be able to demonstrate throughout the key stage in the context of Physical Education.

NB. Teachers may develop activities that combine many of the statutory requirements. The requirements highlighted in BOLD (including each of the Key Elements) are met.

4.2 Knowledge, Understanding and Skills

The first column in the statutory requirement for Physical Education is headed "Developing pupils’ Knowledge, Understanding and Skills."

- Everything in bold in this column is a statutory requirement for the key stage as a whole; not for individual years within the key stage.
- It is intended that schools interpret and develop these requirements as appropriate to their own context.
- The recursive nature of Physical Education means that the bullet points in the knowledge, understanding and skills column are likely to be covered a number of times in each academic year within the key stage.

The table that follows seeks to explain, illustrate and expand on the bullet points under knowledge, understanding and skills.

<td>increase their knowledge, understanding and skills through frequent and regular participation in a balanced programme of Athletics, Games (invasion, fielding/striking and net/wall), Gymnastics, Swimming;</td>
<td>The Physical Education curriculum should emphasise a balanced approach incorporating all aspects of Physical Education. It should encourage frequent and regular participation and the development and progression of skills throughout the key stage. Dance and Outdoor Education are non statutory, however schools are encouraged to offer opportunities in these and other physical activities, for example: Aerobics, Judo and Yoga.</td>

Questions for Departments

- What is the current balance between Physical Education knowledge, understanding and skills in our department’s provision?
- What are the implications for future learning and teaching at Key Stage 3?

4.3 Curriculum Objectives and Key Elements

The curriculum objectives are broken down into key elements. The key elements are a vehicle for ensuring that Physical Education directly connects to the curriculum objective. The key elements also provide a means for connecting learning in Physical Education to other subjects and Learning for Life and Work.

Using Learning for Life and Work to make connections is explored further in 5.3 Connecting the Learning.

The table below shows how each curriculum objective is linked to specific key elements.

| The Northern Ireland Curriculum should provide relevant learning opportunities to help each pupil develop as: |
|---|---|---|
| Objective 1 | Objective 2 | Objective 3 |
| An individual | A contributor to society | A contributor to the economy and the environment |
| Key Elements | Key Elements | Key Elements |
| Personal Understanding | Citizenship | Employability |
| Mutual Understanding | Cultural Understanding | Economic Awareness |
| Personal Health | Media Awareness | Education for Sustainable Development |
| Moral Character | Ethical Awareness |
| Spiritual Awareness |

For example, developing pupils as individuals (objective 1) will require a focus on the key elements of Personal Understanding, Mutual Understanding, Personal Health, Moral Character and Spiritual Awareness.

Each subject must contribute to all key elements across the key stage. Some subjects will have more naturally occurring opportunities to promote certain key elements.

The key elements that Physical Education contributes to more fully are:

- Personal Understanding;
- Mutual Understanding;
- Personal Health;
- Moral Character;
- Spiritual Awareness;
- Citizenship;
- Employability.

For example, Physical Education will have a leading role in Personal Health. Although every other subject will address an aspect of it, much of what is already covered in Physical Education can be looked at through a Personal Health lens. This adds relevance and significance to existing Physical Education content.

4.4 Learning Outcomes

Learning outcomes incorporate the skills and capabilities pupils should be able to demonstrate throughout Key Stage 3 in each subject strand. These are similar across each subject strand and promote the infusion of the cross-curricular skills (Communication, Using Mathematics and Using ICT) (please refer to Appendix 1 for further guidance on the cross-curricular skills). The learning outcomes also promote the infusion of Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities (also refer to Appendix 2 for further guidance on Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities).

As with all subjects, it is statutory for teachers to provide opportunities for pupils to acquire and develop the cross-curricular skills and the Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities in Physical Education. Pupils should also be given opportunities to demonstrate their skills and application of knowledge and understanding about Physical Education to meet the learning outcomes.

Evidence for Learning Outcomes

Evidence of the application of skills, knowledge and understanding for a learning outcome can be demonstrated at any point in the learning process. Learning outcomes can be based on process or product. They may be evidenced by teacher, pupil or peer assessment of a range of pupils’ work and performance, including work generated using ICT. The nature of feedback on learning outcomes can be qualitative, quantitative, verbal or written to suit the purpose of the assessment.

Using and Recording Evidence

The number of occasions when learning outcomes are internally recorded, the system for internal recording and the use made of internal records is at the discretion of departments in line with whole school policy. Learning outcomes can be demonstrated through formal or informal assessment, formative and/or summative assessment.

Evidence of learning outcomes can be:

- recorded informally, that is, primarily for feedback to pupils and for teacher reference;
- recorded formally, that is, in line with departmental and internal whole school assessment policy requirements;
- used to inform reporting, for example, in relation to Pupil Profile requirements.
Skills and the Learning Outcomes

4.5 Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities

The Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities framework consists of five overlapping strands:

- Managing Information;
- Thinking, Problem-Solving and Decision-Making;
- Being Creative;
- Working with Others;
- Self-Management.

Each strand is broken down into further detail. These can facilitate lesson planning and provide criteria against which pupils’ performances can be assessed and reported; for example, linking cause and effect, examining evidence, planning a task, etc. Many of the skills are not new and are already being developed across a range of subjects. This single framework aims to make the development of Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities more structured and explicit, to encourage application across a range of contexts and to provide a common language that pupils and teachers can use to talk about their thinking and learning.

There are a number of teaching strategies that will promote the development of Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities generally, for example; setting open ended tasks, effective questioning, using thinking frames and diagrams, talking about thinking and learning, providing meaningful opportunities for collaborative learning etc. Many of these activities also support the principles of ‘Assessment for Learning’.

The big shift, however, is to focus on opportunities in Physical Education where a specific thinking skill or personal capability can be used to deepen understanding of a particular Physical Education concept or context. The context used provides opportunities for the development and practice of the thinking skill/personal capability. This promotes lessons where there is the parallel development of subject knowledge and understanding as well as the development of a particular mode of thinking. This approach is known as infusion; adding one thing to another to give it a new significance.

Planning for infusion involves, for example:

(a) looking across a series of units of work in a particular year group and identifying where the most appropriate contexts are to introduce and develop specific skills, such as; evaluating most appropriate information, justifying opinions, reaching agreement within a group etc.;

(b) identifying the specific skills and capabilities best developed through Physical Education and setting up contexts to introduce and practice them, such as; comparing and contrasting (technique), examining options and weighing up pros and cons (lifestyle), taking turns, sharing and cooperating (games) etc.

This explicit approach to developing the Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities provides opportunities to observe, record, feedback and report on pupils’ strengths and areas for future focus in terms of their development in Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities. It also enables pupils to transfer particular thinking skills or personal/interpersonal capabilities to other contexts.

Progression in the Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities is only made through their practice and application in a range of contexts and at increasing levels of challenge and demand.

Continuing professional development materials have been developed to promote the infusion of Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities across the curriculum. These materials are available at www.nicurriculum.org.uk.

• How can Physical Education meaningfully develop each strand of the Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities framework?

• Where are key opportunities in Physical Education for infusion?

Section 05
Approaches to Learning and Teaching

5.1 Key Messages

Flexibility
Teachers now have the opportunity to use the statutory requirements to devise schemes and units of work in Physical Education that follow the needs and interests of the pupil. This does not mean throwing out schemes of work that have been carefully developed over the years. It provides opportunities for teachers to build on those units that best engage and develop their pupils and replace or revitalise those units that did not engage the pupils so much.

Relevance
Teachers have opportunities to look for themes or issues that are real and relevant to the lives of pupils today. The Physical Education skills and the concepts in the first column of the Physical Education strand can be developed through many current health related issues locally or in the media that pupils express an interest in.

Integrated
The statutory requirements for Physical Education are written to help teachers see alternatives to the teaching of discrete Physical Education topics such as gymnastics or games etc., and to form units of work that integrate the knowledge and understanding from discrete activity areas to help pupils develop their transferable skills and capabilities through a range of contexts.

Value Based
The key elements provide opportunities for pupils to reflect on, for example, moral, ethical, spiritual, social and cultural dimensions of physical health issues relating to real people and real situations and to consider their own views and opinions about them.

Action Orientated
There are also opportunities for pupils to be challenged about individual and collective social and health related responsibilities. Furthermore opportunities are signposted for pupils to act, individually or as a whole class/school, on those areas of concern.

Future Focused
Pupils are challenged to think about the type of lifestyle they would like to experience in years to come and how best to achieve it. They will also have opportunities to explore how the skills developed through Physical Education might help them in the future.
5.2 Assessment for Learning

‘Assessment for Learning’ is an approach that can support effective learning and teaching. Assessment for Learning focuses on the learning process (rather than the end product) and attempts not to prove learning, but rather improve it. It is formative assessment. It is a way for us to take stock of learning during the process and it can help inform us of how the learning is progressing.

In ‘Assessment for Learning’:

- there is a high emphasis on transferable learning;
- assessment becomes a much more transparent process because it is based on critical information that is shared with the learners and;
- learners are able to take responsibility for their own learning, and eventually for their own assessment, too.

‘Assessment for Learning’ is not something extra or ‘bolted on.’ It integrates with existing classroom practice. Assessment for Learning involves the following key actions:

| Sharing learning intentions | A learning intention is a description of what teachers want pupils to know, understand or be able to do by the end of an activity. It tells pupils what the focus for learning is going to be. It helps both teachers and pupils to focus on the learning rather than the activity, for example: Identify what pupils will be learning (We are learning to……) Explain the reason for learning (We are learning this because…….) |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------- 5.3 Connecting the Learning

The Northern Ireland Curriculum is designed to accommodate links across subjects. Many natural links exist, although they may be under-exploited. Where these links are identified and planned for, they have the potential to make learning more meaningful, informed and purposeful. Opportunities to connect the learning can range from small and informal opportunities to whole school and formally planned. Any of the following may be used as drivers for connecting learning between two or more subjects:

- Skills/Learning Outcomes;
- Key Elements;
- Themes;
- Knowledge;
- Concepts;
- Learning experiences;
- Learning for Life Work;
- Other suitable approaches.

Questions for Departments

- Which of these could best be used as a starting point to make meaningful connections with other subjects?

Action

Examples of connecting learning across subjects are exemplified in the Thematic and Collaborative Units and are available as part of the Curriculum Support and Implementation Box and at www.nicurriculum.org.uk.
Connecting to Learning for Life and Work

One way of beginning to make connections is to use Learning for Life and Work. The four subject strands within Learning for Life and Work (Personal Development, Local and Global Citizenship, Home Economics and Employability) contribute directly to the three curriculum objectives.

The other areas of learning also contribute to the curriculum objectives and Learning for Life and Work. Well planned and organised work within subjects make a distinctive and natural contribution to Learning for Life and Work and help to strengthen and enrich its provision as a whole.

Relevant key elements within subjects can support learning related to Personal Development, Local and Global Citizenship, Home Economics and Employability.

Examples of how key elements in PE can contribute to Learning for Life and Work are provided in Appendix 3.

Teachers have flexibility to enhance the breadth and depth of their subject’s contribution to Learning for Life and Work. Subject teachers can therefore:

• raise awareness about the Learning for Life and Work key concepts;
• develop more detailed understanding about the Learning for Life and Work key concepts within their subject context;
• explore particular Learning for Life and Work key concepts. When delivered in sufficient depth, an area of learning/subject strand can take full responsibility for meeting a particular statement of requirement.
Questions for Departments

- Which aspects of our current practice promote connected learning?
- What are the issues around the management of connected learning?
- How will we know that pupils are learning to make connections?

Action
5.4 Active Learning

Engaging pupils more actively in their learning and providing them with opportunities to demonstrate Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities requires an approach beyond traditional didactic methods.

The glossary Active Learning and Teaching Methods is available from www.nicurriculum.org.uk and contains a wide range of active and experiential strategies to promote pupils’ participation and engagement.

Physical Education provides particularly rich contexts for using a range of active learning strategies. Further details can be found in Appendix 4.

Questions for Departments

- What active learning strategies might work for us?
- How does the climate in our learning environments support the use of active learning?
- What are the management implications in the range of learning environments?

Section 06
Auditing and Planning

It is important to evaluate existing schemes of work in relation to the statutory requirement for Physical Education. Departmental planning for the Northern Ireland Curriculum should be informed by an evaluation process and may result in a completely fresh approach.

6.1 Conducting a Departmental Audit

When planning to carry out a departmental audit, refer to the training materials Planning for the Revised Curriculum at Key Stage 3 available on www.nicurriculum.org.uk and as part of the Curriculum Support and Implementation Box. Used in conjunction with the following guidance, departments can decide how to evaluate existing and planned provision.

Audits are a starting point for the long term planning process. There are a number of possible ‘ways-in’ to carrying out an audit. Some of these are outlined in the table below. Further details are available at www.nicurriculum.org.uk.

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Curriculum Objectives</td>
<td>What do we teach and why? Look at how the topics currently taught address the broad curriculum objectives. The objectives provide a rationale for the topic. The key elements can provide the footholds into the objectives.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Key Elements</td>
<td>Check where units of work contain aspects of the key elements, or could be re-focused to suit. Check for coverage across the Key Stage. Remove excessive duplication, add material to address any omissions.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities</td>
<td>Starting with current units of work it is possible to audit the provision of Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities using the statements from the “From – To Progress Map”. After completing an audit in this way, gaps in provision can easily be detected and it will then be possible to develop opportunities to ensure overall coverage in a year and progression across the Key Stage.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Learning Experiences</td>
<td>List the categories of learning experience from the ‘Big Picture’ document in a column. Beside each, match the units of work in your scheme which fit with the category. Assess the coverage: is there a good mixture and variety of experience planned?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>‘Blue Skies’</td>
<td>Begin with aspirations for a completely new scheme of work, and work up details so as to match planned experiences with revised curriculum requirements.</td>

6.2 Long, Medium and Short Term Planning

Long Term Planning
In producing long term plans or schemes of work you need to think about:

- how Physical Education is delivered across the key stage;
- how Physical Education links with the wider curriculum objectives;
- how and when to develop specific skills and capabilities;
- what range of topics will be studied;
- how Physical Education can actively link with other curricular areas;
- how Physical Education aligns with whole school development/circumstances.

Medium Term Planning
In planning units of work you need to think about:

- identifying big questions/issues to engage pupils;
- the teaching and learning activities and strategies to best develop the skills;
- how to build in time for review, reflection and remediation.

Short Term Planning
In planning a lesson or series of lesson you need to think about:

- making the learning intentions explicit to clarify what you want the pupils to know, understand and/or be able to do;
- agreeing and negotiating with the pupils what success in this task or activity will look like;
- using a launch activity to engage the pupils and develop their sense of enquiry;
- using a range of actives/challenges;
- supporting and prompting pupil performance;
- planning plenaries to provide feedback, reflect on thinking and learning, make connections to other learning and set up next lesson(s).

Curriculum development is a process and requires ongoing evaluation.
Try figuring out why some lessons work, while others don’t succeed as we would like.

For any scheme of work it might be useful to ask:

- How well did the pupils respond to that?
  - did they enjoy it?
  - did they see the relevance?
  - were they motivated to learn?

- How well did they achieve?
  - what evidence of achievement was there?
  - was there evidence of deep learning?
  - how did I collect it?

- What modifications could I make?
  - in the content?
  - in the learning materials?
  - in the learning activities?

- When did you last experience a “buzz” in the classroom?
  - what place/theme/issue were the pupils learning about?
  - what was the big inquiry/key question?
  - what activity were they doing?
  - what was the purpose of their learning?
  - why had you chosen these particular resources to use in this session with those pupils?

Cross-Curricular Skills

Communication Across the Curriculum

Communication is central to the whole curriculum. Pupils should be able to communicate in order to express themselves socially, emotionally and physically, to develop as individuals, engage with others and contribute as members of society.

Pupils should be given opportunities to engage with and demonstrate the skill of communication and to transfer their knowledge about communication concepts and skills to real-life meaningful contexts across the curriculum.

The modes of communication include talking and listening, reading and writing. However, effective communication also includes non-verbal modes of communication, wider literacy and the use of multimedia and ICT technologies which may combine different modes. Pupils are therefore encouraged to become effective communicators by using a range of techniques, forms and media to convey information and ideas creatively and appropriately.

The requirements for Communication are set out below.

Across the curriculum, at a level appropriate to their ability, pupils should be enabled to develop skills in:

Talking and Listening

Pupils should be enabled to:
- listen to and take part in discussions, explanations, role-plays and presentations;
- contribute comments, ask questions and respond to others' points of view;
- communicate information, ideas, opinions, feelings and imaginings, using an expanding vocabulary;
- structure their talk and speak clearly so that ideas can be understood by others;
- adapt ways of speaking to audience and situation;
- use non-verbal methods to express ideas and engage with the listener.

Reading

Pupils should be enabled to:
- read a range of texts* for information, ideas and enjoyment;
- use a range of strategies to read with increasing independence;
- find, select and use information from a range of sources;
- understand and explore ideas, events and features in texts*;
- use evidence from texts* to explain opinions.

* Texts refer to ideas that are organised to communicate and present a message in written, spoken, visual and symbolic forms.

Writing

Pupils should be enabled to:
- talk about, plan and edit work;
- communicate information, meaning, feelings, imaginings and ideas in a clear and organised way;
- develop, express and present ideas in a variety of forms and formats, using traditional and digital resources, for different audiences and purposes;
- write with increasing accuracy and proficiency.
Using Mathematics Across the Curriculum

Using Mathematics is the skill of applying mathematical concepts, processes and understanding appropriately in a variety of contexts. Ideally these should be in relevant real life situations that require a mathematical dimension.

Pupils are likely to acquire and consolidate their mathematical knowledge, concepts and skills within the area of learning for Mathematics and Numeracy. However, they should be given opportunities to transfer their understanding, as appropriate, to other contexts across the curriculum. Pupils can demonstrate their mathematical knowledge, understanding and skills in a variety of ways to communicate, manage information, think critically, solve problems and make decisions.

The requirements for Using Mathematics are set out below.

Across the curriculum, at a level appropriate to their ability, pupils should be enabled to:

- choose the appropriate materials, equipment and mathematics to use in a particular situation;
- use mathematical knowledge and concepts accurately;
- work systematically and check their work;
- use mathematics to solve problems and make decisions;
- develop methods and strategies, including mental mathematics;
- explore ideas, make and test predictions and think creatively;
- identify and collect information;
- read, interpret, organise and present information in mathematical formats;
- use mathematical understanding and language to ask and answer questions, talk about and discuss ideas and explain way of working;
- develop financial capability;
- use ICT to solve problems and/or present their work.
Using Information and Communications Technology Across the Curriculum

Using Information and Communications Technology (ICT) provides powerful tools and contexts to support meaningful learning and has the potential to transform and enrich pupils’ learning experiences and environments across the curriculum. The creative use of ICT can empower learners to become independent, self-motivated and flexible, helping in turn to develop self-esteem and positive attitudes to learning, with which to realise their full potential. It also provides opportunities to collaborate within and beyond the classroom to pose questions, take risks and respond positively to ‘what if’ questions.

To help develop skills in researching, handling and communicating information pupils should have opportunities, using ICT, to engage in genuine research and purposeful tasks set in meaningful contexts. They should be encouraged to re-work information, present and exchange their ideas and translate their thinking into creative products and productions which show an awareness of audience and purpose.

The requirements for Using ICT are set out below.

Across the curriculum, at a level appropriate to their ability, pupils should be enabled to develop skills to:

Explore
Pupils should be enabled to:
- access and manage data and information;
- research, select, process and interpret information;
- investigate, make predictions and solve problems through interaction with digital tools;
- understand how to keep safe and display acceptable online behaviour.

Express
Pupils should be enabled to:
- create, develop, present and publish ideas and information using a range of digital media;
- create information and multimedia products using a range of assets.

Exchange
Pupils should be enabled to:
- communicate using a range of contemporary methods and tools;
- share, collaborate, exchange and develop ideas digitally.

Evaluate
Pupils should be enabled to:
- talk about, review and make improvements to work, reflecting on the process and outcome;
- consider the sources and resources used.

Exhibit
Pupils should be enabled to:
- manage and present their stored work;
- showcase their learning across the curriculum.

Appendix 2

Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities

Thinking skills are tools that help pupils to go beyond the acquisition of knowledge in order to search for meaning, apply ideas, analyse patterns and relationships, create and design something new and monitor and evaluate their progress.

Personal and interpersonal skills and capabilities underpin success in all aspects of life. It is important, therefore, that pupils’s self-esteem and self-confidence are explicitly fostered along with the ability to understand and manage their own emotions and to interact effectively with others.

Teachers should help pupils to develop Thinking Skills and Personal Capabilities by focusing on the following areas.
Purpose
