Introduction

This document sets out the principal administrative requirements for GCE (General Certificate of Education) qualifications including GCE in applied subjects.

It does not apply to the administrative requirements for GCSE, Entry Level Certificates, Functional Skills qualifications, Principal Learning units and Project qualifications.

The document is designed for use by those responsible in schools and colleges (centres) for the administration of GCE examinations. The aim is to explain and provide a commentary on the main activities and terms involved.

With regard to GCE in applied subjects, students generally take three units for an Advanced Subsidiary Applied GCE Single Award, which is a free-standing qualification and may be awarded separately. They may choose to take a further three units to complete the full Advanced Applied GCE Single Award.

Double award qualifications are also available. A double award AS qualification consists of six units and a double award A-level qualification consists of twelve units. There is also a nine unit award, Advanced GCE with Advanced Subsidiary GCE (Additional).

In other GCE specifications, students generally take two units for an Advanced Subsidiary GCE (AS) qualification, which is a free-standing qualification and may be awarded separately. Students may choose to take a further two units to complete the full Advanced GCE (A-level) qualification.

Exceptions to this rule are:

- Mathematics;
- Further Mathematics;
- Pure Mathematics;
- Statistics;
- Biology;
- Human Biology;
- Chemistry;
- Physics;
- Electronics;
- Geology;
- Welsh First Language;
- Welsh Second Language; and
- Music

The above specifications consist of three-unit AS and six-unit A-level qualifications.

Additionally, lesser taught languages (Arabic, Bengali, Biblical Hebrew, Dutch, Gujarati, Japanese, Modern Greek, Modern Hebrew, Panjabi, Persian, Polish, Portuguese and Turkish) consist of one-unit AS and two-unit A-level qualifications.

Chinese is a three-unit qualification (two AS and one A2 unit) and carries 200 uniform marks.

A list of dates for key activities is provided in Appendix 1, page 11, for easy reference.
1. Making entries

Key issue: Entries can lead either to unit results or to qualification awards.

(i) Entries for individual units

An entry is required for each unit which a student intends to take in any given examination series. This is necessary so that students are provided with the correct examination paper(s) and receive the correct result(s) at the end of the process. See Appendix 1, page 11, for final entry dates.

Entries must be made by the student’s centre for the unit(s) for which the student has been prepared. Units can be taken in any order.

When entries are made for units, there is no requirement for the student to declare the level or title of the qualification which he/she is intending to complete. Some units are common to more than one specification, e.g. Further Mathematics and Mathematics.

(ii) Entries for qualification awards (‘cashing in’ or aggregation)

Once the student has gained or has entered for the appropriate set of units, an entry may then be made for the qualification award. This is known as ‘cashing in’ or aggregation. It is the indication to the awarding body that the student wishes to complete the qualification and receive certification.

Cashing in or aggregation is not automatic. It can only be applied for when the student has entered for, or gained the appropriate set of units for his/ her chosen qualification. The awarding body must take this as his/ her chosen qualification.

Applying to cash in or aggregate does not equate to an entry for any particular unit or combination of units. Specific entries must still be made for any units which the student wishes to take in the respective examination series, with a separate entry for the overall qualification.

Cashing in or aggregation is normally applied for at the same time that entries are made for the student’s final units. It may also be applied for in the period immediately following receipt of unit results.

Candidates who have sufficient unit results for an award, but have not cashed in or aggregated, may do so retrospectively through their centre. Please see Appendix 1, page 11, for submission dates.

The centre must submit the request to the relevant awarding body by the published deadline for the series concerned. Each awarding body will publish its own administrative guidelines, which will detail the method of submitting requests and any fee for this service.

N.B: The Department for Education (DfE) currently expects all maintained schools and colleges (including academies and free schools) in England to ‘cash-in’ or aggregate students’ AS units at the end of a one-year AS course (or halfway through a two-year A-level course).
2. Receiving results

Key issue: Unit results are reported as uniform marks and unit grades; qualification results are reported as grades.

For all GCE units (including Applied GCE units), grade boundaries are determined at awarding meetings in terms of the raw marks for the unit. These raw mark grade boundaries are then translated on to a uniform mark scale (UMS) which has fixed grade boundaries.

A student’s unit results are reported as uniform marks. Applied GCE units are normally reported on a 100-point scale. The maximum uniform mark for other GCE units depends on the weighting of the unit and normally varies between 60 and 140.

The uniform mark allows a grade equivalent to be calculated for each unit, which may also be shown on the results slip. Uniform mark scales are given in Appendix 2, page 12.

Results slips will include for each unit, as a minimum:

- the unit title;
- the candidate’s UMS mark for the unit; and
- the examination series in which the unit was taken.

Information enabling UMS marks to be equated to GCE grades will also be provided.

If a student has applied to cash in or aggregate, a qualification result will also be issued. The result will be reported as a grade which is calculated by adding up the best uniform marks for each unit required.

Students will be awarded Grade A* if they achieve Grade A for the full A-level (i.e. at least 160, 320 or 480 uniform marks in the 2, 4 or 6 unit A-levels respectively) and 90% or more of the available uniform marks from their A2 units (i.e. 90, 180 or 270 uniform marks for the A2 units in the 2, 4 or 6 unit A-levels respectively). Special rules apply to Mathematics and Applied GCE specifications - please see Appendix 2, page 12.

Certificates will show for each subject, as a minimum:

- the subject title;
- the qualification;
- the subject grade; and
- the examination series in which the award was made.
3. Re-sits

Key issue: Any unit can be re-sat irrespective of whether the qualification is to be cashed in.

If a student has claimed AS certification, he/she may still re-sit one or more AS units in addition to A2 units prior to cashing in for an A-level award.

<tbody>

<tr>
<td>Unit 2</td>
<td>Unit 4</td>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The table above depicts a student who completes a four-unit GCE qualification over two examination series.

The student takes Unit 1 and Unit 2 in June 2014. The student claims an AS award in June 2014.

The student re-sits Unit 2 as well as entering for Unit 3 and Unit 4 in June 2015.

The student claims an A-level award in June 2015.

When the A-level award is claimed in June 2015, the best of the attempts at each unit will be considered, and the award will be made up as follows:

- Unit 1 – June 2014
- Unit 2 – the better result from the two attempts
- Unit 3 – June 2015
- Unit 4 – June 2015

The student may claim a new AS award in June 2015, as unit results obtained prior to the previous certification will be available for re-use. If the student claims a new AS award in June 2015, it will be made up as follows:

- Unit 1 – June 2014
- Unit 2 – the better result from the two attempts

If the student is not satisfied with the A-level award claimed in June 2015, he/she can re-sit one or more units (AS and/or A2 units) and request A-level certification again in June 2016.
4. Cashing in awards - the options and actions

This section considers the options and actions available to a student who either wishes to finish his/her qualification or intends to take the qualification further.

(i) Options and actions for the student intending to finish the qualification

This information applies to a student who has completed the units for a GCE AS or Advanced qualification and who has no intention of proceeding to a further award.

- If the student is satisfied with his/her grade (cashing in being applied for at the time the entry was made) no further action is necessary.
- If cashing in was not applied for at the time of entry, it can be applied for retrospectively after the issue of results and by the published date for late subject awards:
  - 20 September 2014 for the June 2014 examination series
  - 20 September 2015 for the June 2015 examination series
- If the student is not satisfied with his/her grade and wishes to improve it, one or more of the units may be re-sat and certification requested again in a future examination series. Where a unit consists of more than one option, the candidate may take a new optional unit. The best result for each unit will count towards the new award.

(ii) Options and actions for the student intending to take the qualification further

This information applies to a student who has completed the units for a GCE AS or Advanced qualification and who wishes to take that qualification further.

- The student can proceed to a further qualification whether or not the first award is cashed in or aggregated. Individual units may be re-sat at a future series and count towards the further qualification.
- If the student is satisfied with his/her grade (cashing in being applied for at the time the entry was made) no further action is necessary.
- If cashing in was not applied for at the time of entry, it can be applied for retrospectively after the issue of results and by the published date for late subject awards:
  - 20 September 2014 for the June 2014 examination series
  - 20 September 2015 for the June 2015 examination series
- If the student is not satisfied with his/her grade and wishes to improve it, one or more of the units may be re-sat and certification requested again in a future examination series. Where a unit consists of more than one option, the candidate may take a new optional unit. The best result for each unit will count towards the new award.

Figures 2a and 2b on page 7 summarise the courses of action available to a student who applied to cash in when entries were made and to a student who did not apply to cash in at that stage. Each box represents a stage of the process, and each arrow represents a choice that can be made at that stage.
Figure 2a  Options for those who have requested to cash in – follow any route through

1. Unit entries made and cash in requested
2. Results received
   - Accept grade (no further action necessary)
   - Retake one or more units
3. Unit entries made and cash in requested
   - Finish course
   - Results received
   - Continue to further award

Figure 2b  Options for those who have not requested to cash in – follow any route through

1. Unit entries made but no cash in requested
2. Results received
   - Request late cash in
   - Finish course
   - Cash in
   - Retake one or more units
   - Continue to further award
5. To cash in or not to cash in?

The decision on whether or not to cash in should be taken in the light of an individual student’s requirements. There are implications for either course of action, and these are outlined below.

(i) If the student requests to cash in the qualification

- He/she will receive a grade and a certificate.
- Awarding bodies will report the qualification grade and the corresponding contributing unit grades to UCAS, and the qualification grade must be declared on UCAS forms.
- Individual units can still be re-sat and count towards the next level of award.
- The student may attempt to improve the grade by re-taking one or more units (and applying to cash in again).

(ii) If the student does not cash in the qualification

- No grade or certificate is issued.
- He/she can choose what to tell UCAS – information about unit results can be included in the student’s personal statement or in the referee's report if desired.
- The individual unit results can be improved.
- The unit results remain in the ‘bank’. This means he/she can have a change of mind and cash in at a later date to claim the grade to which he/she is entitled. Claims must be made within the stipulated period following an examination series. There is no requirement to sit any further units.

N.B: The Department for Education (DfE) currently expects all maintained schools and colleges (including academies and free schools) in England to ‘cash-in’ or aggregate students’ AS units at the end of a one-year AS course (or halfway through a two-year A-level course).
6. Enquiries about results and access to scripts

If there is concern about the result of a unit following the publication of results, the centre can submit an application for an enquiry about results to the relevant awarding body. Dates by which applications have to be made are given in Appendix 1, page 11, and full details of the services available, and how to apply for them, are given in the JCQ publication Post Results Services – Information and guidance to centres - http://www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/post-results-services

Centres must submit applications for enquiries about results within the enquiry period immediately following the publication of results. It is not possible to make an enquiry about a unit taken in a previous series. An enquiry made in relation to an overall qualification grade is limited to a clerical check, ensuring that the aggregation of the unit marks has been correctly carried out.

The outcome of an enquiry into an externally assessed unit or an internally assessed unit can lead to the uniform mark being confirmed, raised or lowered. If cash-in has been requested, the qualification grade may be confirmed, raised or lowered.

However, the qualification grade for awards entered in the same series is protected in the case of internally-assessed units. Centres should be aware that although the AS grade will be protected in the event of an internally-assessed AS unit being lowered as a result of a review of moderation, the lower mark will contribute to any subsequent A-level award.

Centres may also submit applications to awarding bodies for the return of examination scripts to support teaching and learning, or to request a priority copy of a script before deciding whether to submit an enquiry about results.

Reference must be made to the JCQ publication Post Results Services – Information and guidance to centres.
7. Arrangements for GCE AS candidates transferring between specifications or awarding bodies midway through a GCE A-level course (having completed and certificated a GCE AS award)

GCE AS candidates who move to another centre or who, for other reasons, have to change their programme of study part way through a GCE A-level course may be eligible to transfer a GCE AS award between specifications and/or awarding bodies.

The specifications must have the same subject titles, under arrangements agreed between the regulators and the Joint Council for Qualifications.

Full details of the transfer of credit process for GCE AS qualifications is given in the JQO document Information for centres - Arrangements for GCE AS candidates transferring between specifications or awarding bodies midway through a GCE A-level course (having completed and certificated a GCE AS award) - http://www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/entries/gce-entry-information-inctransfer-of-credit

Note

The general rule for the award of A* is:
- a grade A overall at A-level and
- 90% of the maximum uniform mark on the aggregate of the A2 units

The rule in Mathematics is:
- a grade A overall at A-level and
- 90% of the maximum uniform mark on the aggregate of Units C3 and C4

The rule in Further Mathematics is:
- a grade A overall at A-level and
- 90% of the maximum uniform mark on the aggregate of the three best A2 units

Examples of GCE aggregation and certification

Examples of GCE Mathematics aggregation and certification may be found in the J C Q publication GCE Mathematics Aggregation Rules - Guidance for Centres -

Rule

A candidate who has previously claimed a qualification award will be able to claim a subsequent award for the same subject, provided that an entry is made for at least one unit which contributes to the award.

Example 1

A GCE AS qualification consists of Units 1 and 2.

Candidate M certificated AS level in June 2014. He/she re-takes Unit 2 in June 2015.
A new AS level award can be claimed.

Example 2

A GCE AS qualification consists of Units 1-3. The corresponding A-level qualification consists of Units 1-6.

Candidate N certificated AS level in June 2014. He/she re-takes Units 3, 4 and 5 in June 2015.

A new AS award can be claimed, as well as a new A-level award, in June 2015 (because Unit 3 contributes to both awards). If the candidate had re-taken Units 4 and 5 but not Unit 3 in June 2015, he/she could have claimed a new A-level award but not a new AS award.

Example 3

A GCE AS qualification consists of Units 1 and 2. The corresponding A-level consists additionally of Units 3a or 3b or 3c, and 4a or 4b or 4c. There are no restrictions on how the options in Units 3 and 4 are combined.

A candidate may certificate AS level with Units 1 and 2.

A candidate may certificate A-level with any one of the following combinations of units:

1. 1, 2, 3a, 4a
2. 1, 2, 3a, 4b
3. 1, 2, 3a, 4c
4. 1, 2, 3b, 4a
5. 1, 2, 3b, 4b
6. 1, 2, 3b, 4c
7. 1, 2, 3c, 4a
8. 1, 2, 3c, 4b
9. 1, 2, 3c, 4c

(Where a candidate has results for both options of a unit, e.g. a result for Unit 3a in addition to a result for Unit 3b, the better result will count towards certification.)

Candidate O certificated AS level in June 2014 having taken Units 1 and 2. He/she also took Unit 3b in June 2014. He/she then takes Units 3a and 4a in June 2015. The results from both Unit 3a and Unit 3b are eligible to count towards certification at A-level.

A new AS award cannot be claimed since no AS units have been re-taken.
Example 4

A Biology / Human Biology specification contains the following units:
1, 2B, 2H, 3, 4B, 4H, 5, 6

Biology and Human Biology qualifications are available with the following combinations of units:

- AS Biology: 1, 2B, 3
- A-level Biology: 1, 2B, 3, 4B, 5, 6
- AS Human Biology: 1, 2H, 3
- A-level Human Biology: 1, 2H, 3, 4H, 5, 6

(a) Candidate P certificated AS Biology in June 2014. He/she re-takes Unit 2B in June 2015.

A new AS Biology award can be claimed.

(b) Candidate Q certificated AS Biology in June 2014. He/she then takes Unit 2H in June 2015.

An AS Human Biology award cannot be claimed.

This is because unit results (for Units 1 and 3) which have counted towards an AS Biology award cannot be re-used to count towards an AS Human Biology award.

In order to certificate AS Human Biology, the candidate would need to re-take Units 1 and 3 as well as taking Unit 2H.

Please note that results for Units 1 and 3 can count towards Human Biology only if they are obtained after Biology was certificated (see examples (d) and (e) below).

(c) Candidate R took Unit 1, Unit 2B and Unit 3 in June 2014. He/she certificated AS Biology in June 2014. The candidate then takes Unit 2H, and re-takes Unit 3, in June 2015.

An AS Human Biology award cannot be claimed because the attempt at Unit 1 was made before certification of AS Biology.

(d) Candidate S took Unit 1, Unit 2B and Unit 3 in June 2014, and certificated AS Biology. He/she re-takes Units 1, 2H and 3 in June 2015.

An AS Human Biology award can be claimed because both Unit 1 and Unit 3 have been re-taken after certification of AS Biology (although only the new results for these units will be eligible to count).

(e) Candidate T took Units 1, 2B and 3 in June 2014, but did not request certification. He/she then takes Unit 2H in June 2015.

An award in either AS Biology or AS Human Biology (but not both) can be claimed.

(f) Candidate U certificated AS Biology in June 2014. He/she then takes Units 2H, 4H, 5 and 6 in June 2015.

A new AS award cannot be claimed because the results for Units 1 and 3, which were taken in June 2014, have been used to count towards AS Biology and cannot subsequently be used to count towards a different title at the same level.

In order to be eligible for an award in AS Human Biology, the candidate would need to re-take Units 1 and 3. However, the candidate is eligible for an award in A-level Human Biology.
