Reading Non-fiction

Tasks 2 and 3 are based on an online article about happiness.

Task 2: Spend 15 minutes on this task.
Total 21 marks

Read the text below where the writer discusses the importance of happiness.

Explain how the writer has presented this in a way that engages her readers' interest. Support your comments with evidence.

In 2012, the United Nations proclaimed March 20th to be the International Day of Happiness. It's easy to understand why they see happiness as something to celebrate: happy people are healthy people; they get sick less often and live longer. And guess what? Happy people are more likely to have fulfilling lives.

Statistics prove that happy people tend to be more successful and are more productive at work. Based on recent studies, it has become clear that happiness is not just a personal issue; it's a matter of public health, national well-being, and global economics.

But happiness doesn't come easily, as most of us know. Disappointments and annoyances grab our attention and gnaw at our worries like gnats; and even the good things in life seem to lose their lustre over time. Add to that a crammed schedule and stressful responsibilities, and happiness might just seem out of reach – achievable for some people, perhaps, but is it achievable for everyone?

Task 3: Spend 10 minutes on this task.

Total 12 marks

In this part of the article, the writer is considering how we can be happier in life.

Read the text below. In your own words, write down two benefits the writer has recommended: one benefit from each paragraph.

For each benefit present two pieces of supporting evidence.

A simple way to be happier is to recognise the good around us. Each evening, write down the positives of your day, noting how they made you feel. This draws your attention to the good things in life, boosting those feelings of worth and value. People who do this reap the benefits for months, illustrating how focusing on the positives can be uplifting.

Try three happy activities. You could read, listen to music or meditate. Alternatively, take part in a group activity, such as joining a choir or a youth club, or playing sports. Even if your go-to place of happiness is a box set, popcorn and ice cream, this can reconnect you with different sources of satisfaction. Any three choices you make should offer you a sense of pleasure and meaning; all worthwhile paths to a life filled with more optimism. It'll give you a fresh outlook.

(a) Benefit from paragraph one: [4 marks]

(b) Two pieces of supporting evidence from paragraph one: [2 marks]

(c) Benefit from paragraph two: [4 marks]

(d) Two pieces of supporting evidence from paragraph two: [2 marks]

Reading Media Texts

Tasks 4 and 5 are based on advertising material for the Wild Atlantic Sand-Free Beach Towel.

Task 4: Spend 17 minutes on this task.
Total 20 marks

Read the text below. Explain how language has been used to promote the Wild Atlantic Sand-Free Beach Towel as an excellent beach accessory. Present evidence to support your comments.

We love the beach. We live for its untamed expanses.

And now you no longer need to put up with those fine, golden granules of sand that leave skin sore, scraped dry with a sand-covered towel that somehow brings half of the beach into our cars, clothes and homes.

Want an innovative solution to this persistent pain?

Designed by surfers, with Ireland’s wild waters and fierce shores in mind, the Wild Atlantic Sand-Free Beach Towel dries 50% faster than standard towels. It combines a soft texture to caress skin that battles land and sea with a microfibre, sand-free fabric. Its luxuriously large size still rolls to fit into a tiny bag, making it perfectly portable after a plunge in the ocean.

Make your trip to the beach smoother – in multiple ways. Isn’t it time you invested?

Task 5: Spend 8 minutes on this task.
Total 10 marks

Study the image below from advertising material for the Wild Atlantic Sand-Free Beach Towel.

Select two examples of presentational features that promote the Wild Atlantic Sand-Free Beach Towel as a product for people who enjoy water sports.

Explain the intended effect of these two presentational features.

(a) First example of a presentational feature:
[1 mark]

(b) Intended effect on the reader: [4 marks]

(c) Second example of a presentational feature:
[1 mark]

(d) Intended effect on the reader: [4 marks]
