An carr dearg

le Máire Ní Shabhaois

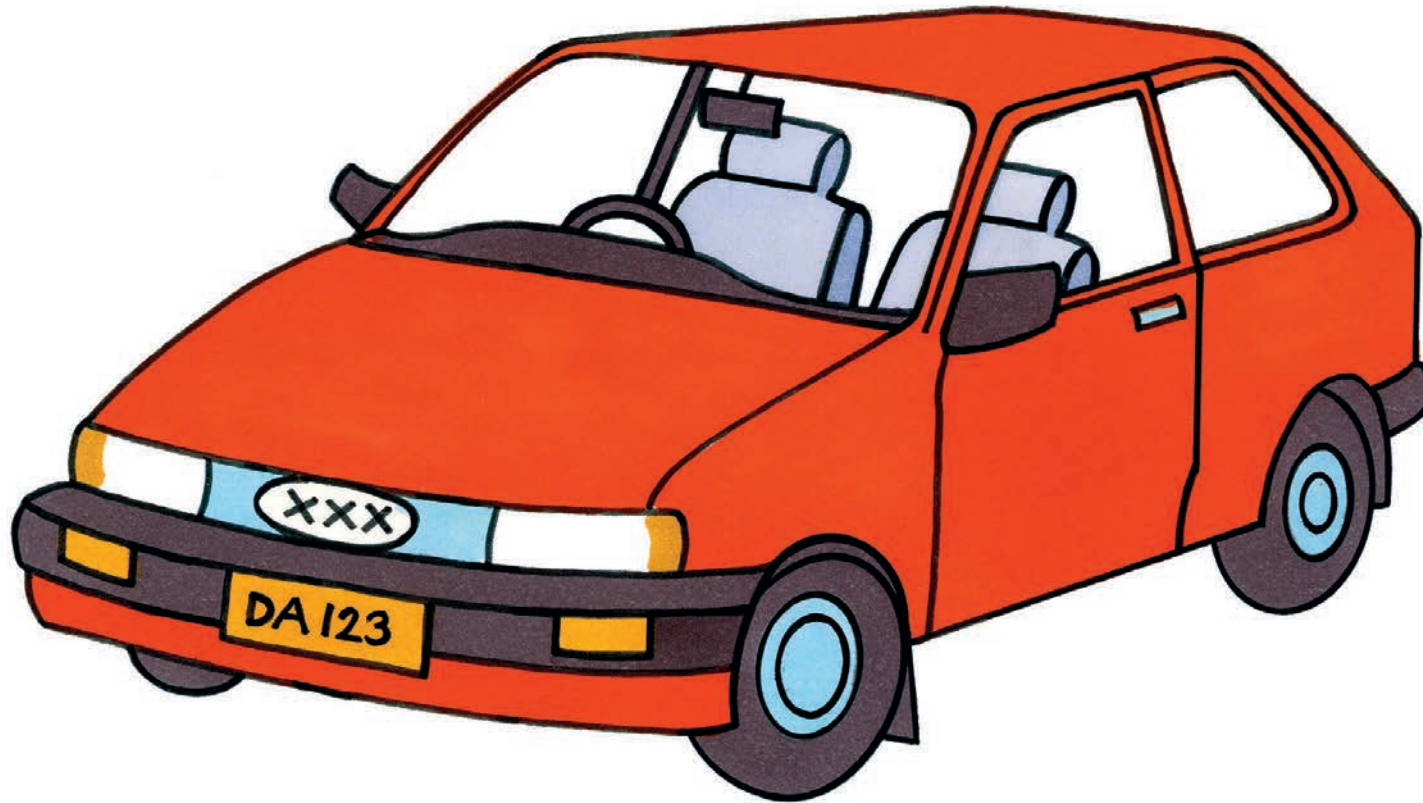

Dréimire is a Reading Scheme in Ulster Irish for children in lower primary classes who are learning to read through the medium of Irish. Aimed at ensuring enjoyment and success in early reading efforts, these books depend heavily upon the combination of illustrations and simple text to convey meaning. Each book tells a story and is graded by number. Key words have been identified and are listed at the back of each book. The words are repeated in the story in which they appear and in subsequent books and constitute the sight vocabulary which a child may be expected to acquire as he/she progresses through the scheme. Other words are introduced but these may be inferred from pictorial cues. Punctuation and educational as and gs are used, the print is large, clear and well spaced. The layout ensures that the child can never read across a spread. Aspiration and eclipsis have been avoided in the earlier books.
