

Edexcel, owned by Pearson, is the UK's leading awarding body, offering a breadth of general and vocational qualifications including GCSEs, A-Levels, IGCSEs, Diplomas and BTECs in order to help people of all ages make progress in their lives. Edexcel welcomes the opportunity to respond to this post-recognition monitoring report regarding the QCF (Qualifications and Credit Framework).

Edexcel has ensured that systems are in place to safeguard the standards of our qualifications and processes in order to offer the highest possible quality of service to both learners and centres. Edexcel continually seeks to improve and innovate in all areas of our work and the introduction of the QCF will inform this work in the future. We welcome Ofqual's monitoring report, which commends our "long-standing and well defined systems and processes in place for all product development."

Edexcel is working closely with Ofqual to address the areas of improvement raised in this report.

Edexcel would like to thank the monitoring team at Ofqual for their work on this report.
